AN EXCITING FIRE

Robert Luke's Livery Stable Partially Destroyed last Night.

A NUMBER OF BUGGIES ARE BURNED

Also a Hearse and Several Sleighs. The Horses and Most of the Vehicles are Taken out Safe-Much Hay and Feed Destroyed, and the Loss will Approximate $4,000. Good Work by the Firemen.

A fire, which considered by the money loss was not one of the most disastrous, but one of the most exciting experienced in Wheeling for many years, occurred last evening, partially destroying Robert Luke's livery stable, on Market street, half a square below Fourteenth. The smoke was first seen issuing from the rear and side of the hay loft, on the alley, about half past seven o'clock, and from the density and volume of the smoke the fire must already have been smoldering for some when the streets are so obstructed. The only wonder is that there are not more mishaps.

By that time, however, the bright flames had broken through the roof in the rear of the building, on Alley C, and from the windows on the side. It looked as if the large building, of very the street M. E. church, and the Epworth League, of the Fourth street church, same way. At any rate, what started it is absolutely beyond conjecture.

The damaged building will be repaired at once, and will be fit to reoccupy in a very short time. Considering the property endangered, the result is certainly reason for general conceptuation.

HON. N. B. SCOTT ESCAPES

Very Narrowly from a Terrible Fate-His Cart Broken,

Last evening about half past six o'clock Hon. N. B. Scott started to drive his new Hambletonian horse over to the State Fair grounds, attached to a light road cart. He drove up Market street, State Fair grounds, attached to a light road cart. He drove up Market street, and just as he approached Eleventh he heard an electric motor behind him. The street at that point is in a terrible condition, the work on the new Egerter building and the material for it, with the ditch for the telephone conduit and the sand out of it, narrowing the driveway seriously. To avoid possible danger, Mr. Scott turned into Eleventh street and let the electric car pass.

He then drove back into Market street, and noticed too late to avoid an accident that another motor was following the first at full speed, and only a accident that another motor was following the first at full speed, and only a few feet behind. To cross in front of the car was impossible, and Mr. Scott tried to turn up the street, but the car was too close, and it struck the cart, demolishing it, throwing the horse down and Mr. Scott out. He fortunately escaped with a badly bruised and sprained left leg, and the horse was not injured. The cars run entirely too close and too fast around the loop, especially when the streets are so obstructed. The only wonder is that there are not more mishaps.

inflammable material, could not possibly be saved. In the meantime employes of the sta-In the meantime employes of the sta-ble and volunteers from among the spectators were busy under Mr. Luke's cool and intelligent direction in saving the horses and carriages. Mr. Luke would not allow a vehicle to be moved until all the thirty old horses had been removed to a place of safety. Fortu-nately after this had been accomplished nately after this had been accomplished there was yet ample time to run out also all the carriages, buggles and the large burial car, which were on the first floor. A number of various vehicles, old and new, were on the second floor, and these were all destroyed, or so badly injured as to be practically ruined. The lot includes several buggles belonging to putrons who boarded their horses with Mr. Luke.

In all there were on the second floor one white hearse, the joint property of

In all there were on the second floor one white hearse, the joint property of Mr. Luke, Mr. Arbenz and Friend & Son; one white surrey and four or five other surreys, several new box buggies, fitteen sleighs, single and double, a number of phaetons, two double and one three-seated rigs, and several other buggies, old and new.

The main damage to the building was in that part on Alley C, and in the second story along the side alley. That the flames did not extend to the Market street side was due to energetic and street side was due to energetic and prompt action on the part of the firemen. They soon had the fire under control and prevented its spread, but it was stubborn and smoldered among the several tons of hay for several hours be-fore it was entirely drowned out. The hay is of course all ruined, and a quantity of other feed was destroyed.

quantity of other feed was destroyed.

The damage to the building will probably reach $1,000, and Mr. Luke's loss, with that of his patrons, will be from $2,500 to $3,000. Whether the building, which is owned by Mr. William Bailey, was insured could not be learned last night. On the stock and fixtures Mr. Luke had an insurance of $2,629 35 in J. V. L. Rodgers' agency, in the Royal company, and about as much in Major Alderson's agency. Major Rogers' risks were divided as follows; $718 83 on thirteen horses; $393 53 on a Berlin coach and landau; $27 65 on a Cincinnati back and an equal amount a Berlin coach and landau; $27 65 on a Cincinnati hack and an equal amount on a Clarence hack; $110 60 on a six-seated rockway; $248 50 on ix buggles; $55 30 on a sleigh; $41 46 on a two-horse $10 00 on a full for one-horse sleigh; 505 30 on a sieign; $41 40 on a two-norse cutter; $44 23 on four one-horse sleighs; $165 one a one-half interest in a white hearse; $221 20 on six sets of double harness; $65 30 on six sets of single harness; $27 65 on whips, robes, etc; an equal amount on office furniture and fixtures, and $193 55 on hay, grain and fead.

Just how much of the insured prop erty was among that which was de-stroyed it was not possible to estimate last night. Many of the boarded rigs were insured by their owners.

The usual crowd gathered in the street and alley, and the police had dif-ficulty in controlling them until rope lines were stretched above and below. Then the space enclosed was kept very clear.

The fire made the densest smoke and steam ever seen in Wheeling, obscuring everything behind it.

The several tenants in the Market The several tenants in the Market street premises adjoining on the north became, naturally, alarmed, and got their belongings out as promptly as possible. Bed ticks and clothing, chairs and all sorts of things were thrown out of the second story windows. Sometimes they were caught by persons below, but oftener fell in the dirty water running out of the burning stable.

The rescued horses were kept last night in the old Holliday planing mill, on Market and Twentieth streets, where, also, most of the vehicles were stored temporarily. It is less than six months ago that Mr. Luke was burned out while occupying a portion of that property with surplus stock. It has always been believed by many people that that blaze was of incendiary origin, and there is at least a possibility that last evening's fire had its origin in the General Manager A. M. Jolly, of the street railway company, was seen yesterday alternoon and asked what the company intended to do about the offer of the city council to leave the matter of a grant for double tracks up Main street from Tenth to the Top mill, to a vote of all the people north of Tenth. He said he would decline the offer, as nothing could be gained by leaving the matter to a vote as proposed; all the matter to a vote as proposed; all the Market street people would, of course, vote against tracks on Main street, as they want a track on their street, which the company has said, on two or three occasions, is entirely impracticable. Concluding, Mr. Jolly said that if the morth Main street people wanted the tracks the company would be glad to

A Lesson in Hygiene.

A Lesson in Hygiene.

The New York Medical Journal recontly published an interesting item on mineral waters. It seems that the lay public is likely to confound table waters with medicinal waters, containing active chemical substances which cannot safely be included as part of the ordinary daily diet. The article says that greater attention is being directed to dictotic waters, more generally called table waters, which, if pure, are of great value as hygienic agents, and it recommends waters like Apollinaris, which is regarded as the leading dietetic table water.

EXCITEMENT ON THE SOUTH SIDE

Caused by the Attempt of a Pittsburgh Shoe Man to Recover Goods. How Mrs. Glacsser Defied a Limb of the Law-Jacob Glasser Arrested-The Sheriff, a Deputy and a Police Officer Participate.

There was quite an exciting time on the South Side yesterday afternoon, in which a pair of scissors and an antiquated revolver is the hands of an enraged woman played an important though happily not fatal part. For two or three months Jacob Glaesser has been conducting a shoe business on Jacob street, South Side, above Thirtyeighth street, adjoining the South Side Savings Bank, and though the business has not been a remarkaby successful one, it was thought everyihing was one, it was thought everything was running smoothly. A part of his stock was from the wholesale shoe firm, A. J. Scott & Co., of Pittsburgh, and was sent to Glaesser on commissions, returns to be made to the former firm as gales were made. The Pittsburgh firm didn't think it was getting returns often enough, and yesterday afternoon a representative walked into the store and wanted to get the goods back, amounting to $066.40. Mrs. Glaesser became enraged and ran the Pittsburgh man out of the store, other arguments for his out of the store, other arguments for his quick departure being added to by a pair of dangerous looking scissors, which she flourished in a reck]esssort of which she flourished tha reckjess sort of way. The agent of the Pittsburgh firm went up town and instituted detinue proceedings to get the goods, and returned to the place, accompanied by Deputy Sheriff Panel Garden. The presence of a limb of the law didn't seem to have any effect on Mrs. Glaesser, who announced that she did not intend that nave any enect on Mrs. Glaesser, who announced that she did not intend that the goods should be taken from the store, and when the Smoky City man wanted to proceed and take possession the lady again waxed wroth and secured an old-fashioned pistol, which she handled in such a way that the young man made a hasty exit to the street.

The deputy sheriff then telephoned to his chief and to Officer Minkomeyer, who both shortly appeared on the scene. Mr. Glaesser, who had not taken the leading role in the melodrama, saw that trouble was coming, and before the sheriff and officer appeared made his escape to a bakery half a square above. Here he was shortly afterward arrested and taken to police headquarters. In the meantime the sheriff took possession of the premises, and the shoe man secured what he contends to the prometers are some that he head ises, and the shoe man secured what he represented to be goods that had been sent here on commission from his firm.

"Arizona Joe,"

"Arizona Joe."

Last evening the Arizona Joe company appeared before a crowded house at the Grand, and to say that the audience was well pleased is putting it mildly, for one could have heard the applause a square away. Arizona Joe, who is a general favorite here, has now one of the best companies of its kind on the road. The specialities are all new and the performance of the dogs and horses wonderful. The play, the new "Black Hawks," has been rewritten, and is now the best of that kind of drama witnessed by the Wheeling theatrical going public. There will be another performance to-night, with a matinee Saturday afternoon, the engagement ending with Saturday night's performance. Seats at Grand opera performance. Seats at Grand opera house box office.

She was Dismissed.

Last evening Miss Fannie Cochran was arraigned before United States Commissioner Campbell, charged by Miss Lola Carroll with having sent her through the mails an indecent letter, signed "Ed W. B."
